November is SQL class discount month

It is that time of the year again, November, the month where we have the lowest prices on our SQL Server courses, and where we have weekly promotions, finally wrapping up with our Thanksgiving, Black Friday and Cyber Monday Sales at the end of the month.

As Stedman Solutions we treat the whole month of November as a sale month for our classes. If you look at one of our deals and think that price is too good to be true, it just might be, but that is our sale price.

Each week we will have different promotions, and once we get to Thanksgiving and Black Friday we will switch to some amazing daily, and even some hourly promotions.

Starting right now the week 1 promos are going. You won't see these kinds of prices on my classes until next November.
