Database Tuning at Emergency Reporting

This week I started working at Emergency Reporting doing database performance tuning and scalability work.

Currently this is a half time gig focused on SQL Server database performance. Fun stuff.