Steve Stedman
Freelance SQL Server Consultant
http://stevestedman.com

More database performance tuning.

Cleaning up extra indexes, and implementing parameterized queries.

I don't know how many times I have had to explain the difference between a clustered index and a non-clustered index. In the end it is all good. Better performance, faster software, and happier customers.