Over 300 Dowloads of the Database Health Reports

Today, the Database Health Reports had its 300th dowload. I would like to say thank you to everyone who is using the product, and an extra thank you to those who have provided me with feedback.

Since I started planning the Database Health Reports a year and a half ago, until the latest download release on January 10th, 2013, it has been quite an adventure. I have met many great people, learned lots about their specific environments and needs, and grown the product to more than I ever considered.

Here is a history of the Database Health Report project, http://databasehealth.stevestedman.com/about.

My Goal: I would like to provide the Database Health Reports project for free to as many people as I possibly can for as long as I can. One day I am sure that it will require more of a support team, and more developers, but as long as I can do this for FREE with just me working on it I will continue to do that.

Download

If you haven't tried out the Database Health Reports project you can get it from the FREE download page.

I am currently working on Beta 5, and plan to add some great new features in the next beta release.

Thanks!!!

Thanks everyone for using the Database Health Reports project!
