3 Technical Certifications This Year

Over a year ago I was at a SQL Saturday listening to Rick Morelan from Joes2Pros talking about his goal, which if I remember correctly was to get 3 certifications a year, and that he has obtained over 30 technical certifications. Earlier this year I decided that I would follow with a similar goal of 3 certifications per year. Yesterday I completed my third certification for 2013. The three technical certifications that I completed this year are:

1. Certified Scrum Professional (June 2013).

2. Certified Scrum Professional (October 2013).

3. Microsoft Exam 70-461 Querying Microsoft SQL Server 2012 (November 2013).

Its been a good year for learning. Now to decide on the next certification to work towards in the beginning of 2014.