Technical details getting started with the challenge this week.

Database Corruption Challenge #4 started about 20 minutes late today due to an upload problem. The corrupt database file is zipped to 22mb, however wordpress (where my site is hosted) would not let me upload anything bigger than 8mb.

After a quick panic, I uploaded the file to a different wordpress site, where Database Health Monitor is hosted, and had no problems.

Again sorry for the delay this week, the 20 minute late start be be considered in the calculation to see how long it takes people to complete the challenge.