Raving fan May 2021

We were moving our SaaS offering from one cloud provider to another and took the opportunity to evaluate our database performance and security ahead of the move. Steve and team worked with us to do an assessment of current state and suggest changes that would both make the move easier as well as improve the performance of our overall application. The team is very knowledgeable and easy to work with. What I liked most is that unlike a typical consultant, they did not just make recommendations, present them and leave; they worked with us to implement the recommendations in our test and production environments and followed up to make sure they had the desired effects. We will be working with Steve’s team in the future to ensure our database is always in tip top shape.
