NEW Database Health Monitor Server Connection Points

There are very important changes happening to Database Health Monitor and we want this process to be easy and understandable for YOU! Please read carefully and email us at the address at the bottom for any questions.

Starting January 5th 2022 Database Health Monitor will have what will be called "Connection Points" (meaning SQL Server Connections). There are several ways in which to increase your Connection Points (listed below). You may choose multiple ways to increase your Connection Points. For example you may subscribe to our mailing list and purchase our SQL Server mentoring package for a total of 3 Connection Points.

We want you to be as successful as possible with Database Health Monitor which is the reason we have made it cost effective.
